Odds and Ends.

In mixing cake dough use cups of exactly the same size for measuring the different ingredients.

If your beets, corn, squashes, peas, etc., are poor, they may be improved by adding a little sugar. By boiling peeled potatoes in a porcelain kettle it may usually be rendered almost as white as new. The molasses to be used for gingerbread is greatly improved by being first boiled,

Crusts for custard pies, etc., may be made to withstand the "soaking" of paste by first partly baking. A. J. Behymer and wife, of Elwood, visited Tipton friends last Sunday....Mrs. When making crab-apple jelly will give it a

If a cake cracks open when baking it is either because the oven is too hot and cooks the outside before the inside is heated or else the cake was made too stiff. There never was a hand clean enough yet to be used in working butter. The hand does not improve the butter even if it is mother's, wife's or sister's hand.

Beat the yelk of an egg and spread on the top of rusks and pies just before put-ting them into the oven. The egg makes that shine seen on bakers' pies and cakes. Preparing salted almonds at home is done by shelling and blanching the nuts. They are then spread out upon a bright tin, a piece of butter the size of a hickory nut and a generous sprinkling of salt added, when they are put into the oven to brown. For a sofa pillow-cover get a square of fine white linen, and cover it all over with wavy lines in yellow silk, putting it in with outline, chain or a running stitch, if pre-ferred. This makes the background, and a
